II. Evolution of the Programme Code for the Undergraduate Nursing Programme at Jiujiang University

The changes in the programme code of the Undergraduate Nursing Programme at Jiujiang University, corresponding to the different phases of the National Undergraduate Programme Catalog revisions, are described as follows:

2002: Programme Approval

The Undergraduate Nursing Programme was approved by the Ministry of Education in 2002 under the previous version of the National Undergraduate Programme Catalog, with a programme code of 100701, a duration of four years, and a Bachelor of Science degree conferred.

2013: Programme Catalog Revision

Pursuant to the Ministry of Education Summary Table of the Review and Consolidation of Undergraduate Programs in Regular Higher Education Institutions (No. 3 [2013]), the Undergraduate Nursing Programme code was uniformly adjusted to 101101. The Programme at Jiujiang University was included in this nationwide consolidation, with the duration and degree requirements unchanged.

2025: Designation as a State-Controlled Programme

In accordance with the latest Ministry of Education regulations on Programme classification, the Undergraduate Nursing Programme was designated as a State-Controlled Programme. The letter "K" was appended to the existing code, resulting in the updated code 101101K. The suffix "K" is a uniform identifier used by the Ministry of Education to denote a State-Controlled Programme. It serves solely as an administrative classification marker and does not affect the programme's educational objectives, curriculum, duration, or degree conferral.

In summary, 100701, 101101, and 101101K represent the same four-year Undergraduate Nursing Programme at Jiujiang University. The code changes reflect updates to the National Undergraduate Programme Catalog system, while the Programme itself has maintained continuous operation and an unbroken academic history.
